

Herongate Barn Theatre, May 5, 2018 – OLD LOVE
By Bibi Phillips

Herongate Barn Theatre - great venue for an evening out and a perfect spring day for dinner and a show.

This is an authentic Old Barn that is well preserved but once inside the atmosphere was cozy and warm.

During dinner there was live piano music in the background to help get us all in the mood for a relaxing evening. Everyone was mingling and chatting as they all headed up for the first course. Yes, the salad bar was self serve and we had a delicious assortment of appetizers and soup.

Then dinner -Delicious home style food buffet style and served by staff. There was a line up but it moved fairly quickly. Lots to choose from - Roast beef, fish, butter chicken and rice. A variety of vegetables accompanied the main course. Option to try everything which many of us did!

Then dessert and coffee which was excellent! Generous servings of cheesecake, pies, chocolate cake etc was laid out and again no restriction if we wanted to try it all.

After dinner many of us went outside for a walk to enjoy the fresh air and to help us digest the food. It was also a good opportunity to take some pictures.

The second half of the evening was the play. It was a full house as it was the final performance for 'Old Love.' Seating in the theatre was a bit low but every seat in the house got a good view. The play was witty and well acted. Many moments of laughter from the audience as the scenes were acted out during the show.

Overall great value for an evening out with an awesome TEGSA group!

Looking forward to the next trip.
